Five-year Statistical Revisions

NASS has completed a thorough review of numerous crop and livestock data series. The review was conducted as part of a standard revision process associated with the publication of the 2012 Census of Agriculture. The review process considered the original survey data, administrative data sources, and the 2012 Census of Agriculture.

The data in the publications listed below are considered final and will not be revised again.

Each of the publications listed below are available, for free, on the NASS website. For information about the revision process, or other state-specific questions, please contact:
